The Moose Jaw Times.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 4, 1891.

Hon. Mr. Abbott's announcement in the Senate that the Government had decided to admit live United States cattle for slaughter in Canada, is not being received favorably by the cattlemen on this side of the line, and the chances are that the bill will be withdrawn. It is claimed in opposition to the bill that it would completely destroy the Canadian cattle trade with England, and that the privileges which Canadian shippers enjoy over their American rivals in the British market would soon be withheld.

More sunshine, more No. 1 hard wheat, more money, more business, more general good times. The above is the history of the past week, with its certain result. In the centre of the magnificent grain fields of the district, the town of Moose Jaw stands as the jewelled queen of Assiniboia. From this place, there will start out in a few weeks, trainloads of first class wheat to feed the hungry millions of the European countries. Wheat and nothing but wheat is the topic of conversation in town, even politics and the by-law being left in the shade. The name of Moose Jaw is synonymous with No. 1 hard wheat, the two being inseparably connected in the minds of grain raisers and grain dealers.

Tomorrow the ratepayers of Moose Jaw will vote on a by-law to raise by way of a loan, the sum of $7000 for permanent improvements in the town as stated in the advt. in another column. It is the duty of every properly qualified voter to carefully consider the question and record his vote for what he thinks is the best interests of the town. So far we have not heard of any organized opposition to the by-law and none is anticipated. We hope that the little local jealousies which played so important a part in the defeat of former by-laws, have become things of the past and that they will be forgotten in the desire to advance the interests of our town. Moose Jaw has made more solid progress this year in the building of private dwelling houses than any other town in Assiniboia, and the corporation should not be content by the enterprise of private individuals. We believe that the money proposed to be raised by debentures, if judiciously expended will be a benefit to the town, without being a burden on the tax payers. Our advice to the readers of the Times is, Vote for the By-Law.

The cry of both political parties throughout Canada at the present time is for a purification of the public service. The session of 1891 will be memorable in the history of Canadian politics for the unearthing of some of the grossest acts of corruption on the part of hoodlums and contractors and under-trappers, that ever disgraced the politics of any country. The Abbott Government as well as the Opposition are determined to probe the matter to the bottom and wherever wrong doing is found in an official high, or low, to mete out justice. This is the only hope for the public life of the Dominion. The moral sense of the people has been shocked by the revelations of the past few weeks. The boasted purity of Canadian politics has been proven to be the rankest corruption known to professional bootlers. If Mr. Abbott and Sir John Thompson succeed in cleaning out the gang of thieves that have gathered around the capital they will have done a service to the Dominion and earned the everlasting gratitude of the people. The public conscience has been aroused and no efforts will be spared to rid the service of the leeches, that for the past few years have been sapping the life blood of the Dominion. This is no party affair but one in which every loyal citizen of Canada is interested.

door of his lonely dwelling possessed the power to at any time raise his hopes or dash them to the ground. The critical season has passed and the soft summer breeze is caressing the magnificent fields of golden grain. The well filled and fully ripened heads bow in graceful submission to the stroke of the binder, the merry hum of which is heard on almost every homestead in the district. No finer sight could easily be imagined than a view of some of the fine fields of waving grain, which as the wind ripples over it looks up smiling in the farmer's honest face. Where the grain has been cut the fields look to be literally full of stocks. The progress of excellence of course there are, but never since the first crop was raised in Manitoba or the North West has there been such a general abundance. Never has there been such a crop of straw; never has the kernel contained so much done or had so thin a covering, and never has the crop required so much twine. Farmers have, whether entitled to it or not, the reputation of being "grumbler." The only case we have met during the past month, of a farmer grumbling, has been where one of the same in for 200 pounds of twine more than he ordered, and he complained that his crop took double the amount of twine he expected. In a few days the crop will be all safely harvested and the work of the thrasher will then begin, until this is completed every man, woman and child in the Moose Jaw district will have all the work they can do. With abundant harvest assured and the prospects of good wages for every kind of grain, we believe that there is an era of prosperity ahead of our farmers, which will more than compensate for the disappointments of former years. It is not confined to any particular section or district but it is general throughout the whole territory from Winnipeg to Calgary. Below we give clippings from our exchanges and reports gathered as to the crop in other parts of the North West.

Qu'Appelle Progress.—For the past few days crops have been ripening very fast, and now wheat cutting is pretty general throughout this district. It was feared that we would have frost on Friday night last, but fortunately we escaped, and now the weather has settled, and the probabilities are that we may have a few weeks of good harvest weather. There was never such a fine crop in Manitoba or the Territories, and with favorable weather for a few weeks will be able to export a very large quantity of wheat of first class quality.

Boissevain Globe.—Hundreds of acres of golden grain have fallen before the binder this week throughout this district. By the end of next week very little will be left uncut within a radius of fifteen or twenty miles of Boissevain. The sample so far is excellent, and should the favorable weather continue a short time longer the quality and quantity of wheat produced this year will astonish the world. The yield from the Turtle Mountain section will eclipse that of 1887 and will leave a record yet to break.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—The Canadian Pacific is making great preparations for moving the grain in the North West. Scarcity of cars has been the general complaint. This year, it is said, the merchants hope to have no difficulty. The company is daily increasing its rolling stock and confidently expect to be in a position to move the crop without delay.

The Prince Albert Times says:—"Capt. Craig, of Carlton, came in on a business visit this week. The captain reports harvesting as well advanced in his locality. There has been no frost and the grain is in first class condition."

Regina Leader.—Old farmers say nobody has any idea of the enormous quantity of grain there is in the country. They say the threshing returns will be simply astonishing. An experienced English farmer who returned from a long prairie trip on Saturday said he would wager that yields of 40 and 50 bushels of wheat per acre will not be uncommon. Other competent authorities say the yield will be phenomenal and nobody doubts it. Harvesting is in progress with a full head of steam and the recent hot weather, which bids fair to continue, places the bulk of the grain absolutely safe from frost. Verily these are great times for the North West.

The Pilot Mound Sentinel says: "In this district many binders are now at work in the grain fields and much barley and some wheat is already in the stock. It is claimed that some farmers, from fear of frost and seeing the work of a heavy harvest before them, have commenced to cut wheat before it is properly ripe. It is said that the grain is ripe, than might be expected from the appearance of the straw, which has been kept green by excess of moisture."

The Toronto Globe's special commissioner telegraphing from Virden says: "In nine years' experience I never saw anything to equal this year's growth. Binders are breaking down in all directions, cutting as long stubble as possible, and even then the straw is too long to elevate. I have seen in all directions solid blocks of 200 and 300 acres of wheat, much of which is in shock."

A Trip Through the District.

To the Editor of the Times.

Having during the past week driven over a goodly portion of the district particularly west and north I had a splendid opportunity of ascertaining the condition of the crops and it is needless almost to state what a great number of your readers know that taken on the whole, the crops are simply immense. As I drove from one farm to another I almost thought the last fields were the best. One thing, was noticeable, viz. every farmer thought that his was the best, and while pleased to hear me say so, yet wondered how it could be possible that theirs could be beaten. The quantity of straw, its great length and the extra quality of grain, and especially the length of the heads of both wheat and oats is worthy of notice. It was nothing special to get heads of oats from 15 to 17 inches in length and one out head which I measured was over 18 inches, and was pulled from a 60 acre field of the Might Bros. I pulled from a field of oats on Mr. Beria's farm a bunch of oats and brought it home with me, and after bringing it home I seemed to me that

Gifts to the Institution Announced at the Recent Convocation.

City Chancellor Burroughs announced the following gifts had been made to the institution:

—The estate of Mr. Edward Jackson, B.A., the foundation of a museum of anthropology. Edward Odum, M.A., for several years in Japan, and in 1902, and the Rev. Dr. J. H. Burroughs, in research in anthropology. He has extensive and exceedingly valuable collections of early illustrations of the primitive and interesting life. These he has to place at the disposal of his Alma Mater and to continue his work to make collection as perfect as possible. The gift of a number of specimens in the expense of this work Mr. Sanford has been to defray, and by this act secures Alma Mater a permanent and most valuable and interesting monument of his gradation.

Two glass factories in America.

The first glass factory in what is now called Highland, Tenn., was founded by James Tamm, Va., and the second in the same county twelve years later in 1589 some score of ground were set to glassmen in Salem, Tenn. The glass factory in Pennsylvania was at Philadelphia in 1683 under the name of William Penn, and he did not succeed. The first glass factory in America was set up by Albert Gallatin associates, in 1785, at New Geneva, Pennsylvania. In 1810 there were established the Ohio river, Pittsburgh, in 1790, and another in the earlier success failed, was the first glass factory in America. In 1820 there were twenty-two glass factories, with an output of less than 10,000,000 annually. At the present time there are hundreds of factories, with an output of 100,000,000 glassware on the market.—St. Louis
